Jaden grann mwen an se bél bagay, li chaje ak roroli, pitimi, kasav. Men, pi bon nan tout se fig yo. Malgre grann mwen gen anpil ptit ptit, mwen konnen ke se mwen li pi pito. Li fè m vini lakay li toutan. Li rakonte'm ti sekrè li yo men gen yon gress ladan yo ke li pa janm di'm « se kijan fig li yo mi konsa ».

Grandma's garden was wonderful, full of sorghum, millet, and cassava. But best of all were the bananas. Although Grandma had many grandchildren, I secretly knew that I was her favourite. She invited me often to her house. She also told me little secrets. But there was one secret she did not share with me: where she ripened bananas.

Pita nan aswè a, manman'm ak papa'm ak grann mwen rele'm. Mwen te konnen poukisa. Jou sa a mwen te dòmi mal paske mwen te konnen ke'm pa tap janm vòlè ankò ni nan men grann mwen ni nan men granmoun mwen yo ni nan men nenpòt ki lòt moun.

Later that evening I was called by my mother and father, and Grandma. I knew why. That night as I lay down to sleep, I knew I could never steal again, not from grandma, not from my parents, and certainly not from anyone else.

Jou appre sa a, se te jou mache. Granan mwen leve bone boné. Li toujou pran fíf mi ak kassav pou li al vanн nan mache. Mwen pa ale lakay li jou sa
 a. Men, mwen pat kapab evite ale lakay two lontan. . . .

You appre sa a, se te jou mache. Granan mwen leve nan soleylakay granan mwen. Lé'm mande ki sa li yé, li repoun mwen sélmán "Se panyen majik mwen." Bo kote panyen an, te gen plizyé fèy banannan ke granan mwen tap vire tanzanstan.
 Mwen te anvi konnen sa ki tap pasé "Poukisa fèy sa yo, granann?" Li repoun sélmán "se fèy majik mwen yo."

One day I saw a big straw basket placed in the sun outside Grandma's house. When I asked what it was for, the only answer I got was, "It's my magic basket." Next to the basket, there were several banana leaves that Grandma turned from time to time. I was curious, "What are the leaves for, Grandma?" I asked. The only answer I got was, "They are my magic leaves."

long.

The following day was market day. Grandma woke up early. She always took ripe bananas and cassava to sell at the market. I did not hurry to visit her that day. But I could not avoid her for Mwen te renmen gade grann mwen, bannann yo, fèy bannann yo ak panyen an. Men, yon jou grann mwen voye'm al fè yon komisyon bò kote manman mwen "Grann, tanpri, kite'm gade sa wap fè..." Li reponn mwen "Pa fè tèt di pitit, fè jan yo di'w la". Mwen pran kouri.

It was so interesting watching Grandma, the bananas, the banana leaves and the big straw basket. But Grandma sent me off to my mother on an errand. "Grandma, please, let me watch as you prepare..." "Don't be stubborn, child, do as you are told," she insisted. I took off running.

The following day, when grandma was in the garden picking vegetables, I sneaked in and peered at the bananas. Nearly all were ripe. I couldn't help taking a bunch of four. As I tiptoed towards the door, I heard grandma coughing outside. I just managed to hide the bananas under my dress and walked past her.

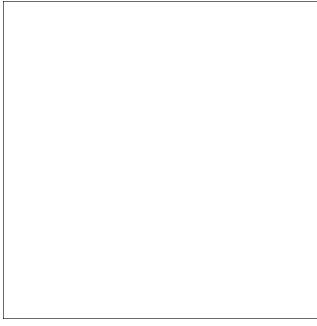

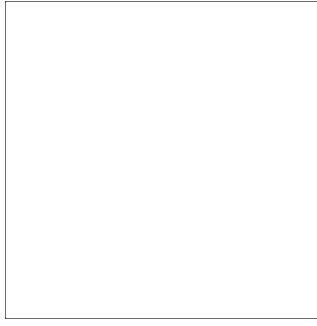

Nan demen, lè granan mwen vin we manman, Lè'm tounen, granan te chita deyo men mwen pa te wè ni panyen an ni banannan yo. "Gran an kote panyen an, kote tout banannan yo enpi kote . ." Li repoun mwen « yo nan panyen majik mwen! Mwen te desi ! . . .

The following day when grandma came to visit my mother, I rushed to her house to check the bananas once more. There was a bunch of very ripe ones. I picked one and hid it in my dress. After covering the basket again, I went behind the house and quickly ate it. It was the sweetest banana I had ever tasted.

te janm manje yon fij silke konsa anvan. chwazi yon ladan yo enpi mwen kache li nan ankò. Te gen yon bann nan yo ki te mi. Mwen mwen kouri ale laky li pou'm tchekke fij yo rad mwen an. Lè'm fin kouvari panyen an male dèyé kay la pou'm manje!, byen vit. Mwen poko te janm manje yon fij silke konsa anvan.

De jou pita, grann mwen voye'm al chache baton li ki te nan chanm lan. Lè'm louvri pòt la, mwen pran yo gwo lodè fig mi. Panyen majik la te byen kache nan yon kwen chanm nan. Mwen leve'l enpi mwen pran bélè lodè majik la.

Two days later, Grandma sent me to fetch her walking stick from her bedroom. As soon as I opened the door, I was welcomed by the strong smell of ripening bananas. In the inner room was grandma's big magic straw basket. It was well hidden by an old blanket. I lifted it and sniffed that glorious smell.

Vwa grann mwen fè'm sote "Ki sa wap fè? Fè vit, pote batonm nan." Mwen kouri sòti ak baton an. Grann mande'm "pouki sa wap souri konsa?" se lè sa a ke'm reyalize ke mwen tap souri toujou depi lè mwen te dekouvri panyen majik la.

Grandma's voice startled me when she called, "What are you doing? Hurry up and bring me the stick." I hurried out with her walking stick. "What are you smiling about?" Grandma asked. Her question made me realise that I was still smiling at the discovery of her magic place.
